Multi-engine Aircraft Deductible Options

Aerospace wants to make sure we meet the needs of your customers and our policyholders. For that reason, we are no longer automatically applying a landing gear failure deductible to all multi-engine aircraft — although, if your customer is interested in saving a few premium dollars, we will quote an increased deductible if requested.

We listened , at last!

You may already have noticed that Aerospace no longer automatically quotes the increased deductible for landing gear failure on multi-engine aircraft, or you have even called to confirm its omission was not an oversight on our part. If we still require it, it will be noted on the quote! We are happy to change our position and anticipate writing more of your business.
